The Cal Leandros series by Rob Thurman has been a guilty pleasure series of reads for me that I have truly enjoyed reading. And Cal seems to embrace his ruthless predatory nature. I didn't know where I was; I didn't know who I. Later novels deal more heavily with Cal's attempts to balance the dark nature of his father's race with his impulse to protect and defend others against the supernatural. Blackout starts after something serious has obviously happened. Words cannot sufficiently describe how much I love this series! It's entertaining urban fantasy on one hand and something more, something amazingly deep on the other.

Hell, Cal even has several of his own "aha" moments. And who he is is Niko's brother and protector, just as Niko is his protector.
