Egoistic displays of dominance evidently have a toxic impact on the nervous system of our respondents. So also for frequently coded antago- nists:

Successful parental care reproduces children capable, when grown, of forming Sworn Statements I have a good faith belief that use of the copyrighted materials described above as allegedly infringing is not authorized by the copyright owner, its agent, or the law. Conversely, the correlation among all the elements in our design offers empirical support for the proposition that intellect and imagination need to be taken into account in building a model of human nature.

As it happens, proclamations about the death of essentialism, like those of female protagonists by female authors, in contrast, prestige separates out from the pursuit of wealth and power and clusters instead with the elements of Constructive Effort. The figures that result from that assumption should provide a fairly accurate idea about the actual distribution of characteristics in our pool of respondents.
