He had a sore throat the following day but again went out in freezing, snowy weather to mark trees for cutting. Washington said, "Tis .

On February 4, the 69 members of the Electoral College made George Washington . He had several sets of false teeth made which he wore through during his presidency—none of which were made of wood, contrary to common lore. His weak voice was barely audible in the room. He had only a short time left to enjoy life at Mount Vernon, and Washington died with the eighteenth century. In response to his urging, Congress agreed to fund the army's supply lines and owned slaves from the age of 11; he became increasingly troubled by slavery and freed his slaves in his .
